1

General

CHC Controls operations and its employees shall operate in such a way that social responsibility is shown between employees and against external organizations.

Social responsibility means respecting cultural, social, environmental and legal differences between individuals and organizations.

2

Business – contacts

CHS Controls AB is a sales company without its own production. The company represents other companies' products with long-term relationships. The company, in connection with the office, has a warehouse where many products are received and delivered. The company designs and assembles some smaller systems through collaboration with local companies, which assemble the final product.

When contacting customers and suppliers, employees at CHS Controls should always show respect for different views and, as far as possible, be fully open with information. There should be no difference between oral and written contacts.

Confidence – Creation

All activities must be permeated with a high tolerance for ethnic differences. All operations must comply with laws and regulations in the markets in which CHS Controls operates.

CHS Controls should always strive to set good examples and in different ways fight negative information about companies and people.

4

Policy's

CHS Controls has a number of policies that will govern the operations.
